Murat Halstead, it is said, is writing a history of Tammany. Brief should it be and an obituary, for Tammany is on its deathbed.

It is stated that the President will recommend interference with the diversion of the Niagara river for industrial purposes. This will be a direct interference with electric light and breakfast food industries.

Stillings the newly appointed public Printer in Washington must be confirmed by the Senate before his appointment will be complete and it is said the Printer's Union will oppose him and compel Senators to declare squarely whether they stand for an open or an enclosed shop.

The editor of the Journal owes Mayor Kingsbury an apology for the error that occurred in his Proclamation of Election which the compositor made to state very different facts than those intended by the Mayor. It was overlooked last week on account of the shock that all Republican editors received in the election. The copy furnished by the Mayor was all right but the type made him say things he did not intend. It was not the fault of the Mayor, and the people should not blame him for the error.

One of the first things that a traveler in darkest Russia observes is that he is 13 days behind the times. On crossing the frontier into Russia on the 15th of September, his passport is stamped Sept. 2, the morning papers are of that date; in other words, the Russian calendar is different from that of the rest of the civilized world. In the French revolution, France changed her calendar and Russia, it is said will, among her first reforms, make her calendar correspond with that of other civilized countries.

Russia is the biggest country that was ever launched on the sea of self government and to say that she is no more fit for navigation than the fleet which she recently sailed for the bottom of the Japan sea, is not to state half the truth. But she can neither sail nor swim without braving the water and the world stands aghast in anticipation of the greatest historic tragedy enacted since the annihilation of time and space. A system hoary if not venerable, but still a system—overthrown; an interregnum of anarchy; political power, like dynamite, scattered amidst darkest ignorance, wild with Utopian expectations, factions and ambitious fighting each other and rending the bowels of the nation—these are but a few of the problems that a nation of 140,000,000 composed of heterogeneous congeries of races and religions all furiously ignorant, must settle in the usual way through bloody exhaustion.

A fine lunch was served and the friends enjoyed themselves until the midnight hour, when they bade "good night" and best wishes to the host and his family.

A HUNTER'S EXPERIENCE

Harry Comstock is the owner of a fine hunting dog, a first-class gun and a great desire to bag a large number of quail. Harry's dog is young and consequently not experienced in hunting, so he started out last Monday with Oscar Sieling who took with him his old and well trained dog.

The enthusiasm of the young animal was something great and Harry had all kinds of experience as well as sport.

While waiting for a B. G. car Tuesday morning the boys were resting and did not notice Harry's dog which was running about looking for birds but found a man's dinner pail and scooped the dinner and was discovered just in time for the owner of the dinner pail to call on Harry for the price of the dinner which he promptly paid. The next trouble was when the boys left the car and struck out for the woods and Harry's dog broke away and made a straight shoot for a farmer's chicken yard where he proceeded to bring in a chicken. Evidently all birds look alike to him, but the farmer thought differently and again Harry produced the coin of the realm and manfully settled for the chicken. The B. G. Sentinel published a story about the day's hunt which is not exactly like the report we have of the day's proceedings, and which the both young men deny, but this statement concerning Comstock we are informed is as close to the truth as a hunting story is expected to be, although we expect Harry will deny it. That is his privilege, however, as all first-class hunters are expected to make good reports of their prowess and no one has a right to ask questions or for proof.

SAVED BY DYNAMITE.

Sometimes, a flaming city is saved by dynamiting a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long, you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Grey, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her; so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At Bowers & Comstock's drug store, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed. Trial bottles free.
